Funds needed for fight

Anti-refinery petitions headed to court

CARMEL CITY ATTORNEY William Burleigh commences the futile job of turning the petitions for referendum over to the Board of Supervisors at Friday's hearing to set the conditions for the Humble Oil use permit. By the now familiar 3 to 2 vote, the motion to accept the petitions for verification by the County Clerk was defeated.

In a statement released yesterday morning, Carmel City attorney William Burleigh revealed the plan to continue the referendum fight to court, providing enough funds are made available through donations.

He further stated to the Outlook that he is more confident of success now than he was a week ago. He said that the response of County Counsel William Stoffers at the Supervisor's meeting did not surprise him since he had had previous discussions with him over the interpretation of the facts as applied to the law, and the two men did not agree.

The official statement released yesterday reads as follows:

"We feel that the enthusiasm shown by the public on the referendum petition warrants pressing the matter to the fullest extent even though the petition was rejected by the Board of Supervisors. For that purpose we are going to solicit funds from the public and from private donors. If sufficient money is donated, we will associate lawyers from San Francisco who have had experience in this type of legal action. If they are of the opinion that the matter should be brought to court, it will be done. My own preliminary indicates that there is considerable hope of obtaining a favorable outcome. The law states that legislative acts are subject to referendum. We feel that the Board of Supervisors legislated when they established a permanent general policy in favor of combustion type, air pollutant, water pollutant industry.

In addition to the referendum,

Adult leaders urgently needed to keep Scouting alive here

Wanted: Cub Scout leaders! A new cub scoutmaster, three new den mothers and a number of committeemen are urgently needed to keep Cub Scouting alive in Carmel Valley.

A meeting for parents and all other adults interested in assisting with the program is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. at Tularcitos School multipurpose room. Boys are not to attend this meeting.

Further information is available from Ben Viljoen, phone 659-2717, cubmaster of Pack 76 the past several years, who is retiring from active service now.

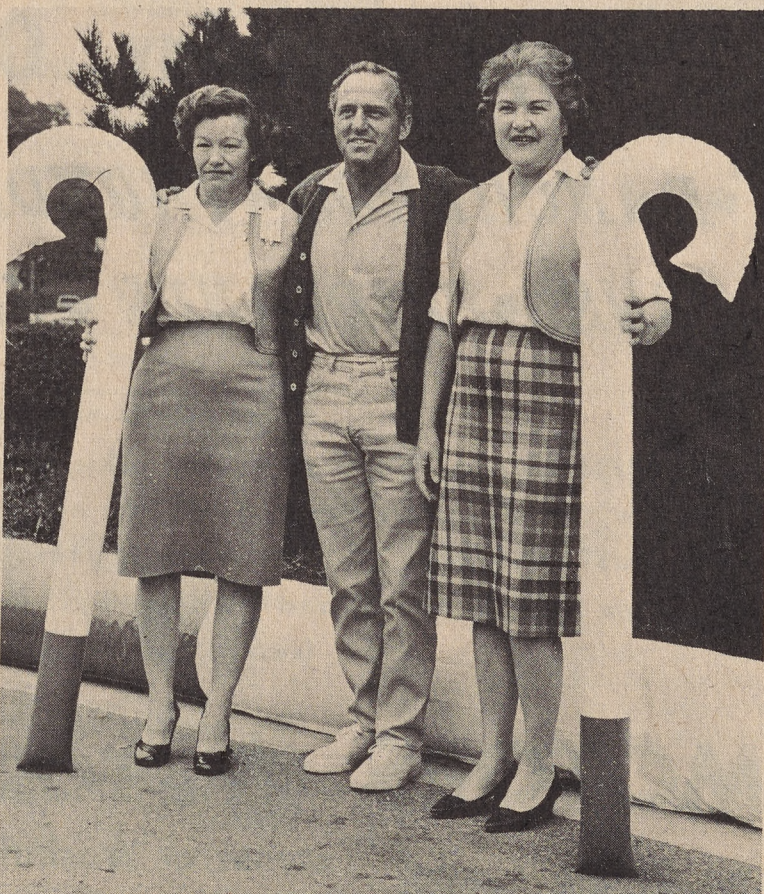

To retain the Pack's charter a minimum of three male adults are needed to fill the posts of Cubmaster and key committeemen.

Six den mothers led cub dens last year, but not all are continuing this fall, leaving urgent need for others to carry on the program.

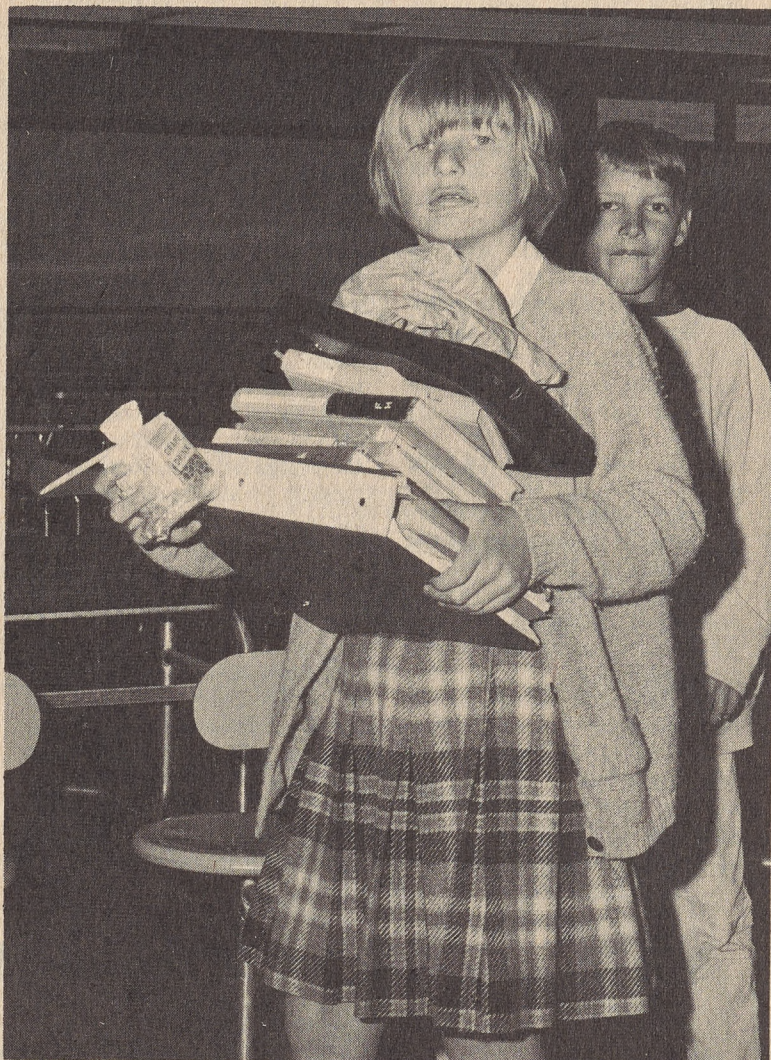

Cubbing covers boys from age 8 to 10 1/2 years old.

Lions Club White Cane Sale scheduled for Friday, Saturday

Burden of books at lunchtime

WITH AN ARMLoad OF BOOKS, fifth grader Lora Lowrie heads for the refuse can in the Middle School lunchroom, to dump her empty grape-drink carton. Carbonated beverages are permitted at the High School, but not at the Middle School. See pages 10 and 11 for more cafeteria pictures at both Carmel High and Middle Schools. (George T.C. Smith photos)

Cafeteria efficiency improved

Perhaps one of the loudest criticisms leveled at the lunch room program last semester was on the basis of cleanliness. To a housewifely eye, our spot check indicated a very clean and well supervised operation at both the Carmel High School and the Middle School. Food preparation begins at 6:30 at the high school. All of the sandwiches for both schools are made there and then those for the Middle School are taken there for placement in the cold food machines. Jello, potato salad and containers of fruit are also prepared at the high school for both lunch-rooms.

At the time of our investigation, the hot lunch program was somewhat limited at the high school due to a delay in receipt of two new large hot food machines. Present equipment with small slots will not permit storage of a hot plate lunch. However, when the new machines arrive, they will have space for 60 hot plates per lunch period, plus 240 spaces in each for other hot dishes, and an area back of the bank of machines is being equipped to handle the plates as they are served and passed

The Carmel Valley Lions Club will launch its second White Cane Sale this Friday with the aid of the club's ladies' auxiliary, the Lionettes.

Milton Frumkin, chairman of this year's fund drive, announced that all day Friday and Saturday, October 1 and 2, volunteer Lions will be located in Carmel Valley from the Village to Carmel Rancho Shopping Center and will offer lapel-sized white canes in exchange for donations of any amount. According to the White Cane committee, Milton Frumkin, Herman Tedrow and Bill Penpraze, most of the Valley's 40 Lions and many of their wives will be working on the sale. Clyde Hitchcock, chairman of last year's fund drive has given enthusiastic support and aid to this year's committee.

Funds raised by the White Cane Sale are used by the local club to help the blind and for sight conservation projects. Last year the club, through White Cane donations, helped photographer George T. C. Smith defray the cost of hospitalization following much needed eye surgery.

George Baker, president of the Carmel Valley Lions points out that all costs of White Cane Day are underwritten out of club administration funds and that every penny collected goes only to the club's eye care fund. The entire program operates on volunteer energy, even to the manufacture of the little plastic canes. This is done by the Monterey Park, California, Lions Club who originated the idea for White Cane Day in 1951.

Concern for the blind and sight-needy is one of the basic projects of Lions International, and the 800 Lions Clubs of California and Nevada have raised more than 2 million dollars in less than 15 years for exclusive use in this field.

into their spots. They will keep food piping hot and can be refilled easily. Although there are stews and soups available several students said that they were getting tired of just hamburgers and hotdogs for hot food. However, it seemed that in the matter of choice, the majority of the students go to the sandwich, hot food and fruit machines rather than to those handling the pastry and ice cream. At the break which comes at 10 a.m. hot pastries are gobbled up for snacks.

While one girl said she didn't like to eat the fruit because it wasn't as attractive as it was in the super-markets, Mrs. Maxine Morris, who is in charge of the lunch room operation, reported that the athletes swarmed to the fruit machine first.

In dairy products nothing except pure butter and ice cream is served rather than ice milk and margarine. Some of the cost of running the kitchen is cut down by the use of surplus foods. However, Mrs. Morris, said, it "should be closed campus to make the food program pay." (The Middle School is a closed campus.)

Although the high school lunchroom was brightened abut by the addition this year of a new light floor and wainscoting. The fact remains that this portion was built 26 years ago and needs drastic maintenance. The chairs in the lunchroom itself look as though they must have come with the school or been given by some other school which had used them for 25 years. Of course, with their load of books, desire to visit, and need to stretch their legs between classes, the thought of sitting is somewhat farce.

Of the 863 pupils who attend Carmel High, about two thirds stay to eat. There are three lunch periods and after each one, attendants close the rooms and clean tables and swab floors to make ready for the next shift. Attendants are also on hand to help in case machines break down or won't respond, often due to faulty coin being used. Some kids have used every kind of phony money in the book to try and make the machines work, even to photostatic copies of bills.

The first high school lunch period is fairly orderly, but the next two get increasingly crowded and loud. The best of manners do not prevail as is evidence by the amount of cleaning that is needed after each one, and it would seem that more extensive supervision is necessary at this age level.

The cost of food is reasonable. Cold sandwiches cost 15 and 20 cents, hamburgers and barbecued beef are 25 cents and submarines are 30 cents. Hot plates will probably run 35 to 40 cents for a type A lunch with meat, potato, vegetable and some fruit or pudding dessert.

This is the high school. The food is as tasty as any lunch the students would have at home, the operation is clean, but the atmosphere of the dining room is dark and depressing.

Last week I had a few words to say about dryers. This week I will enlarge a little bit more on the subject and give you a few reasons why they are good to use and what to look for when buying one. Here are a few ideas on what a dryer will do for you as homemaker: Saves laundry time, especially for large families or families with new babies; saves clothing dollars by utilizing the present clothes stock, stretches storage space, saves ironing time and minimizes wrinkling... ironing is one of every woman's most unpleasant tasks. It stops weather worries...let it rain!! It's good for the flowers!

A few things to look for now...in buying a dryer: Most dryers pick the air up from the bottom of the machine, in the process picking up dust and lint. Some of the better dryers today take their air from the center back, and the top-line models filter the air before it's used. There are two theories in drying. One type pressurizes the drum allowing air to find a natural way out. This is alright, providing all the seals are new and in good shape. When they start to leak the interior of the drum becomes plugged with lint. The second way reduces the pressure in the drum by expelling air. This is better because the lint that goes through the filter plus the moisture and hot air, is expelled to the outside.

The amount of duct work used in fulfilling the above functions is very important. The less duct work, the less chance of corners and cracks being plugged with lint causing future service problems, by restricting the flow of air. Also, the lack of interior duct work allows larger volumes of air at slower tumble speed. The more efficient dryers use temperatures between 105 and 115 degrees, with the exception of wash and wear goods, which is regulated to 155 degrees plus or minus 10 per cent. This is a manufacturers' specification. Lastly, the type of air distribution in the drum, a small heat in-put creates hot spots which are very hard on clothes. Make sure the hot air is distributed evenly throughout the drum.

Another feature is the location of the sensing units. The older models merely sensed the temperature of the expelled air only, which meant the dryer temperature could vary as much as 50 degrees, which is very hard on fabrics. The better dryers sense the temperature in the drum from two or more points. Of course, there are the obvious things like ball bearings and the blower fans and roller assemblies which support the drum, the type of paint-bondizing and porcelain which protects the metal surfaces from moistening the clothes. And, then there are the automatic features which save you many dollars in electric or gas bills over a year's time. -- BOB.

New business opens at Village Plaza

"Office Service and Supplies" is Carmel Valley's newest business, opened in Larry Cumming's new "Village Plaza" building on Delfino Place.

Mrs. Louise Child will be offering secretarial services, including typing, letters and mimeographing. A Xerox copying machine will also be installed.

Mrs. Child, an experienced secretary, formerly worked for HRB-Singer Inc., an electronics subsidiary in State College, Pa. She is the sister of Mrs. Joseph Marin, who, with her husband, Prof. Marin, own the new office-service business.

Prof. Marin, former head of the engineering mechanics dept. of Pennsylvania State College, has recently been appointed a professor of materials science at the Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey.

The Marins have just purchased a home in Rancho Canada. Mrs. Child, and her 14-year-old daughter, are living in the Village Manor apartments.

Community Church dedicates new CV building site

Members of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula gathered at the Carmel Valley site of their new church building for a simple dedication ceremony on Sunday. Following the custom of early churches a simple worship services was conducted on the grounds before a group of 175 persons. Church minister Reverend Burkert Cree, at the podium, led the meditation. Dr. Ronald J. Menmuir, (at right) who served as the first pastor of the church when it was founded in 1963, gave the closing prayer and benediction.

Architect's plans for the building will be presented to the membership next month with construction scheduled for Spring of 1966.

Present services of the Community Church are being held in the Assembly room at Carmel's River School.

MPVS to hold Tombola Mart at Fairgrounds

The Tombola Mart, this year's fund raising event sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services (MPVS) will be held on October 6 at the Monterey Fairgrounds from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. This replaces the traditional "Flea Market" but will be similar to that popular sale and will benefit three worthwhile Peninsula Agencies, Handicapped Activities Unlimited, Inc., (HUA) the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) and the Cancer Fund.

HAU has been in the developing process for several years. It was started in the 1950's by handicapped persons and through the direction and coordination of Mrs. Dorothy Oldon on the Monterey Recreation Department Staff, it has become the hub of a diversified program serving both mentally and physically handicapped persons from ages 14 into the 60's.

The services include a work program operating three days a week at the Fairgrounds, craft classes for differing ages and abilities, parties and dances for teenagers and young adults, a monthly pot-luck supper and assistance in giving transportation to community programs, concerts, etc.

The aim of HAU is to create new programs in the field of rehabilitation which can be adopted by other agencies and to assist the handicapped of the Peninsula to make the best use of their time and talents.

The Visiting Nurse office has been open since 1951. It is a non-profit organization with patients paying according to their financial ability to do so. Any resident of the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest area is eligible and patients are referred by local doctors, hospitals, agencies such as Family Service or friends who know that a family is in need of assistance.

The VNA derives its 45% of its finances from Community Chest and the balance from gifts and donations.

'The Hasty Heart' nicely mixes hilarity, sadness

A British General Hospital in the rear of the Assam-Burma front in 1944 is not exactly a setting conducive to high comedy, but "The Hasty Heart" has its moments of hilarity despite overtones of sadness. It's a heart-warming play as presented by the Studio Theatre in Carmel.

John Soprano is fine as the doourest of Scots who warms to the kindness of his fellows in the ward ruled over with gentle firmness by Sister Margaret, played by Layne Littlepage, certainly one of the most talented young actresses around. Her performance with the Community Players in "Billy Lair" this summer was also memorable.

The rest of the small cast was attractive but unsure on opening night. One expects them to do better with experience. Rick Wolf as "Yank" looks more like an engaging Boy Scout than a veteran G.I.

Dave Hoskins as an Aussie soldier and Jerry Don Johnson as a Cockney are well cast, but their timing was slow. As most of the fun depends on them, this was a serious flaw on Friday night. But with directors Michael Keller and Peter deBono coaching, the pace will no doubt accelerate during the run of the play which will be presented until Nov. 18.

King Smart was perfect as a displaced African native who can communicate only with a flashing smile and one word of English.

John Beckman, Jr., has brief but important scenes at the beginning and near the end of the play and Frank Antone appears as an orderly as well as acting as stage manager.

The simple, appropriate set was designed by Ruth Jordan Allan; costumes were by Penny Rizer and Lucy Page Allen was responsible for properties.

Fabric exhibit at Fashion and Design School open house

An exhibit of new and interesting fabrics from around the world will be presented at the "Fashion Fair" being held at the Carmel School of Fashion and Design, Mission at 8th Street. There will also be demonstrations of draping, adjustment and usage of patterns and talks on color and materials.

Friday, October 1, is the day for the open house and anyone interested in sewing and dress-making is invited to come from 3 to 9 p.m., according to Madeline Duggar, school director.

Night class in Modern Math for Parents set at Tularcitos School

The first meeting of a class in Modern Mathematics for Parents will be held on Wednesday, October 6, at 7:30 p.m. in room 17 at Tularcitos School. Mrs. Willie Belle Mason, modern mathematics teacher at the Middle School will be the instructor.

The class is presented at no charge by the Carmel Adult School.

A life on the rolling seas

Editor's Note

(Following are excerpts from letters from Lynne Norton, who will be spending her junior year at Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland. She spent her first two years at Willamette University, Salem, Oregon, and plans to return for her senior year. This summer she wrote a series of interviews of Carmel Valley collegians for The Outlook. The initial letters describe life aboard the "Aurelia," an Italian ship which specializes in student travelers.)

By LYNNE NORTON

Third day out: I'm sitting on a little deck at the back of the ship which I just found by accident. It's really been great so far. There are about 1,100 kids on board. Most of them are Americans. There are many groups but only two from the West coast. These are from Gonzaga College in Spokane and Redlands University.

I'm the only one I know of going to Ireland. I'd say the largest number is going to France, next England or Scotland, Italy, Spain, Switzerland. The stewards speak very little English.

There are large groups of French students who stick together and some are obnoxious...trying to let everyone know that they are super-neat. They look rather like "surfers." I had a French lesson this morning and the boys who taught it were very nice, not of the super-neat variety.

I am in a room for four, three flights down. It's nice. One girl is from a little college in Pennsylvania and is going to St. Andrews in Scotland. She is a junior and an English major. The second girl just graduated from Wilson College, New York, in art history. She is going to Paris on her own. The third girl I have seen only twice, is going to Paris. She has a boy friend.

I spent most of the time at the Welcome Dance and Hootenany with a boy who just graduated from the University of Michigan and will be studying architecture at the University of London for the next two years.

We have an excellent man telling about Art. I have heard two of his lectures but too many things happen at the same time. Today there was a forum of students on "Today's Student... Actor or Spectator." The U. of M. boy spoke on that one. There was also a forum on American Foreign Policy which I missed.

Yesterday we saw a Russian film about a little boy, "A Summer to Remember." Very good. Today there are showing "Tiger Bay."

The water is navy blue in the middle of the ocean in the day time. At night when you look at the moon, it seems to be moving back and forth about three feet in each direction.

SUNDAY

The ship's newspaper had a list of the nationalities of those aboard. Here it is:

U.S.A., 910; France, 60; Germany, 44; Britain, 26; Belgium, 10; Canada, 10; Italy 8; Switzerland, 8; Sweden, 5; Austria, 4;

Africa, 4; India, 3; Spain, 2; Denmark, 2; Haiti, 2; and one each from Portugal, Colombia, Poland, Cuba, Tanzania, Japan, Argentina, Iran, Ecuador, Turkey, Australia and Malaysia and two stateless. To be stateless must be sad. I've only met kids from U.S.A., France, England and Sweden so far.

Today is very warm because we are going through the gulf stream. We're wondering if there'll be a miraculous change in the weather when we get out of it.

I discovered that the group from Gonzaga is going to its campus in Florence.

TUESDAY

Saw "Raisen in the Sun," a really powerful movie.

Here's a bit of history of the Aurelia:

It was built by the German's in 1939, to sail between Germany and Peru. In World War II it was appropriated for service with the Norwegian fleet as a repair station for subs, and carried food, medical supplies and troops to Axis powers. Its name was Huascar.

Near the end of the war Britain captured it and converted it to a troop transport. After the war the Canadian-Pacific Line named it "Beaverbrae" and converted it to a passenger ship sailing to Australia from Europe.

I've attended forums of "The Student in Europe and "The Student in Britain." They were both rather general.

I've discovered there is someone else going to Dublin. I haven't met him. I was saying that I thought I was the only one and a girl sitting in front of me said that a boy at her table was going there to meet his family. He's from South Africa. I hope he's not a white supremacist.

Yesterday I attended art lectures on "French Gothic Cathedrals" and "The Beginning of the Italian Renaissance."

Now I'm at a forum on "The Place of Religion in the Scientific World." An article in our paper entitled "The average European in America" says that San Francisco stood out as the most memorable city for Europeans, while New Orleans had good ratings for atmosphere and Boston for architecture.

CARMEL SUPERINTENDENT of School Medill Bair presented School board president Dr. Robert Newton with a gift made by the manual arts class at the Carmel Middle School. The beautifully turned gavel was given to Dr. Newton at last Wednesday's board meeting.

Last night a girl had a birthday at our table. We didn't have a cake so someone struck a lighted match in her molded pink pudding. An English boy who had been working in Atlanta and who studies medicine at Oxford, asked, "Is this some American custom I'm not familiar with?"

THURSDAY

The ships concert was very good. It began with four folk dances and ended with "The Aurelian Madrigal Societie" singing things from Orlando di Lasso, Morley and Bach.

The best person I've met so far is a girl from Chicago named Barbara who just graduated in English from Roosevelt U., a city school. She will be traveling for a year or until her money runs out, whichever is first. She's reading "The Once and Future King," a kindred spirit.

It sure has been rolling! Luckily my soup was half finished before it really started. I feel fine though, and I haven't taken anything.

This afternoon there was a meeting of everyone going to Ireland. There turns out to be 11 of us, although one Canadian boy doesn't really count; he's just going to visit his married sister before starting Oxford. Six kids are going to the University College, Dublin. This includes three girls from the U. of Santa Clara. Two girls are going to Queens College, Belfast and the boy from South Africa and I are all that are going to Trinity. He is returning for his third year. Very blond boy, a Boer, I guess. His name is Jan.

There was an interesting forum on the Free Speech Movement at Berkeley this morning.

FRIDAY

Last night was skit night with the various national groups performing. The British one ended in "Hail Britannia!" finishing off with "yeh, yeh, yeh!"

Today it's been very rough. (Cont. on Page 12)

Carmel boy wins scholastic honors

Dave Erickson, son of Mrs. Lloyd W. Clapper, and Roger Fonesca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fonesca have been named among the semifinalists in the competition for National Merit Scholarships. Both boys are seniors at Carmel High School. They participated in tests last March and the results placed them among the highest scoring students in the state.

Tests were given at over 17,000 schools in the United States and 14,000 students were chosen as semi-finalists. Of these, somewhat over 2,000 will receive college scholarships as finalists. To qualify as finalists, which will be announced in April, they must take college board exams and be recommended by their school.

The information on the students is also sent to all accredited colleges and universities which has resulted in

'Who Gets The Drumstick' is a warm, amusing story

Chief Ship's Clerk Frank Beardsley of the Naval Post graduate School views the tale of his romance and subsequent marriage as a typical Navy story. He and his wife, Helen, were both widowed with large families. When they married and combined their families they brought together the largest military family in the nation's history. He is completing the last 10 months of a 30 year Navy career and has spent the last five years at the Navy School in Monterey.

"Who Gets the Drumstick?" is a book which Helen Beardsley has written about their experiences. It is currently running in a condensed form in October Good Housekeeping Magazine. Navy readers have found it particularly interesting with its warm human experiences and humorous anecdotes.

many semi-finalists receiving scholarship aid outside of the Merit program.

The program is sponsored by over 280 colleges, foundations, corporations, and individuals. It is based on high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership, extra curricular activities and school citizenship. The award is for four year scholarships, the amount depending upon the needs of the student. It can pay up to $6,000, but a student is able to afford college without help he still receives $100 per year.

News analyst to address Carmel Woman's Club

John Morley, news analyst and correspondent, will return to address the Carmel Woman's Club at their first meeting of the year. The group will meet at their clubhouse on October 4 at 2 p.m.

Mr. Morley has won many awards for speaking and reporting including "America's Highest Speaker's award." He will report what he saw and heard on his latest trips from Russia to Red China, Cuba to Cyprus, Borneo to Berlin, the Congo to Korea and Suez to Saigon. He will relate his interviews with de Gaulle, Nasser, Makarion and Chou En-Lai to current news.

Four former club presidents, Mrs. H. C. Schroeder, Miss Ianthe Densmore, Mrs. Barbara Murphy and Mrs. Carl E. Menneken, will preside at the tea table following the meeting.

JOHN MORLEY

Assisting the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Dudley Miles, will be Mrs. Lawrence H. Lyon, Mrs. Wallace H. Lowry and Mrs. Al Wells.

Art Assn. memberships now open

November 9 has been set by the Board of Directors of the Carmel Art Association as the date for judging paintings and sculpture by artists applying for active membership in the association.

Artists may secure application blanks and information from the curator at the Art Association Gallery on Dolores Street before that date.

Community Center Bulletin Board

Help! We need somebody!

That same old story again... more mothers are needed to supervise the Saturday afternoon children's movies at the Community Center, according to Mrs. Mel Blevens, movie chairman. Mrs. Blevens feels that a mother's donation of two hours time every couple of months should be considered a form of thank you for the movies which are presented as a community service by the Center Board. Admission is free to chaperoning mothers and their children.

The "A" grade family movies have been playing to capacity audiences and one mother is needed to supervise at each film showing. First show is 1 p.m. and the second one is 3 p.m. Admission charge is 35 cents per child.

It would be helpful if anyone wishing to sign up for a date and time would call Mrs. Blevens at 659-4230.

Many mothers also avail themselves of the movies as birthday entertainment. If the mother giving the party were to assist at that showing it would help the problem. If a large movie party is planned it is wise to call Kit Parker at 659-2592 and warn him so that space may be reserved since attendance has been large at both showings.

New board members

Two new members were elected to the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Community Center at their last meeting.

Mrs. Philip Cuny was named to replace Mrs. Jay Chamberlain who has moved to Southern California.

Doyt Early, a former board member, was welcomed back as a replacement for attorney Jim Nielson who was forced to resign because of business pressures.

Two Carmel men on NPGS staff

The Naval Postgraduate School has recently made two new appointments.

Dr. George A. Rahe, former coordinator of off-campus graduate engineering programs at UCLA has been named as associate professor of electrical engineering. Dr. Rahe, who holds a B.S., M.S., and Ph.D. in Engineering from UCLA, has also served on the "Man in Space" project as research en-

Dr. Donald E. Kirk, who has been instructor of electrical engineering at University of Illinois, will assume the post of assistant professor of electrical engineering. Dr. Kirk taught at the Navy School from 1959 to 1962 while he was working on his M.S. degree. He received his Ph.D. from University of Illinois.

Dr. Rahe, his wife Patricia, and their four children, and Dr. Kirk, with his wife, Judy, and daughter, Kara, are presently living in Carmel.

Jazz Festival makes a hit with big band programs

Once again the Monterey Jazz Festival has swung itself into musical history. A capacity crowd of jazz buffs filled the horse show arena at the County Fairgrounds for the three day outing, Sept. 17-18-19.

This year's theme was "Tribute to the Trumpet." Friday night was given over to the genius of Louis Armstrong, the man who is credited with inventing the jazz trumpet. He used the occasion to prove that the honor was justly bestowed. From the first note to the closing curtain, he demonstrated his absolute mastery of the idiom. The crowd came to its feet, cheering his rendition of "Hello Dolly" and the traditional "Buckets Got a Hole in It." Those who preceded and followed him, Dizzy Gillespie, Clark Terry, Rex Stewart, all modern masters themselves, only gave eloquent testimony to the monumental influence of the 65 year old Armstrong.

Saturday afternoon featured "Rebel Voices" the younger musicians who have found less traditional forms and modes of jazz expression. The John Handy Quintet set the audience vibrating with its version of an original tune called "The Spanish Lady," on which violinist Michael White played with angelic virtuosity.

The Festival Orchestra under the direction of Gil Fuller then performed "Abstract Realities," a twelve-toned, futuristic composition by Russ Garcia, giving a preview of what the jazz fan of the twenty-first century is likely to be hearing.

Dr. Denny Zeitlin, pianist and psychiatrist, accompanied by drums and bass then carried the audience further into the mysterious world of new temporal relationship as set down by Ornette Coleman and other avant-gardists.

Bassist Charles Mingus, who was the outstanding performer at the 1964 Festival, followed the Zeitlin Trio but was only able to get through one complete number before having to cut his set short due to difficulties with the sound system.

Saturday night showcased the artistry of Duke Ellington and his Orchestra. Johnny Hodges, playing sweetly and simply, on "Things Aint What They Used To Be," had the crowd yelling, "More," "More" until the tune had been repeated three times. A Festival "first" was the performance of dancer Bunny Briggs to the music of the Ellington Orchestra called "David Danced Before The King with All His Might."

Mary Lou Williams accompanied by the chorus, rendered her composition "St. Martin de Porres," liturgical music in the jazz idiom, Sunday afternoon.

Harry James raised Sunday night's curtain with his new swinging band. Buddy Rich, long known as one of the better drummers collaborated with James and the band to electrify the audience with his dexterity and fantastic rhythmic conception.

As the curtain closed for the last time leaving the echoes of James, Armstrong, Ellington, Gillespie, the sound of drums, the tinkle of pianos, the voices tangled together in masses of gibberish, a sound pierced the night; it was "WOW!" Anyone who digs jazz knows what it means.

A VIEW ON THE ROAD TO Hunza over 16,000 foot passes in the Himalayas, pictured in the travel-adventure film "Amazing Hunzaland," being presented at Sunset Auditorium October 1 at 8:15 p.m.

Outlook LEISURE TIMES

'Amazing Hunzaland' first in series of films by Explorers Club

Sunset Auditorium in Carmel will feature a new series of travel-adventure films entitled EXPLORERAMA-CARMEL, to be presented by the Explorers Club of San Francisco beginning Friday, October 1.

The new series consists of feature-length, color films that are narrated in person by world-famous explorers. The films are professionally produced and have stereophonic musical backgrounds. Each film will have one showing only at 8:15 p.m., on Friday evenings at the auditorium.

"AMAZING HUNZALAND" the award winning film which tells the story of the Hunza people, who have mastered the secret of eternal youth will open the series on October 1st. Renee Taylor, who led an expedition to remote Hunza, which is nestled high in the Himalayas, will narrate the film in person. Hunza is the suggested locale for James Hilton's famous novel "Lost Horizon" and people are living there today in perfect mental and physical health at the age of 140 years.

Other films and speakers are "SPAIN" with Dwight Long on Oct. 15th., featuring Madrid, Granada, and the festivals of Seville. "SWITZERLAND" with Earl Brink on Oct. 29th., featuring Geneva, the Matterhorn and the people of Switzerland, from the cheese maker to the wood carver.

The series is presented in Carmel as a community service with proceeds to be used for the Explorers Club scholarship award fund, through which they present awards to science students throughout the country.

Tickets are $1.50 for single programs and $3.00 for the series of three. They will be on sale at the auditorium box office the evening of each showing or in advance from Central Box Office, 6th & Dolores in Carmel, phone 624-6739, or Abinante Music Store, 425 Alvarado Street in Monterey, phone 372-5893.

They won't let us go out on deck. Lots of people are seasick. I'm not. I feel fine. But I do object to an occasional drawer falling across the cabin.

The waves are really cool looking. Much greener than before. At 1:40 p.m. we passed land! An island...we could see three bits of land...a long slender light house, some rocks and another patch of land with three white buildings on it. And we passed some fishing boats. The land was the Scilly Isles.

C of C directors to meet October 13

Next regular Chamber of Commerce directors meeting, to which members are cordially invited, will be an evening dinner meeting, Wednesday, October 13 at Rancho Del Monte Country Club. Wives are welcome.

Cocktails will be at 6:30 and dinner at 8 p.m. A roast beef dinner will be $4.25 each.

Oops, we're sorry! Correction

In last week's review of "The Firebugs" currently playing at the Circle Theatre, The Outlook unintentionally omitted the name of William Lewis who did the complicated and dramatic lighting for the show. Mr. Lewis is associated with Rick Beck-Meyer in Helio Designs, which specializes in design by light.

Madame Olga Ziceva

Former Ballet Russe member to teach in CV

MADAME OLGA ZICEVA, former ballerina and ballet mistress, will come out of retirement to teach a class at the Angene Feves Studio. Sam, her wide eyed companion, will have to stay home.

Two years ago Madame Olga Ziceva and her husband moved to a house way at the end of a winding lane in Robles del Rio. She had retired from a long and varied career in ballet, both as a dancer and teacher. Her school of ballet in San Mateo had just passed its 30th anniversary. For the past two years she has not been involved to any extent in ballet, but she is most excited by her plans to resume teaching with some of the more advanced students in the Valley.

Madame Ziceva was born in Moscow and studied at the Imperial Ballet school with Chudinoff. When she came to the United States while in her teens she joined the international ballet group, Les Saisons de Ballet Russe and stayed with them for two years, continuing her studies with Theodore Kosloff.

From there her career took many and varied turns after the revue in which she appeared during the war years where (for an additional five dollars a week) she "flew" from a balcony, draped in an American flag. In recalling this incident, Mme. Ziceva smiled as she told of being strapped into a corset-like harness, suspended by wires. However, one night she landed in the bass drum and officials made them eliminate this part of the show, saying it was too dangerous to the audience!

She danced professionally with various companies and shows from New York to the Middle West. While working with the Chicago Civic Ballet under direction Adolph Bohm, she injured her kneecap. During an enforced absence from the stage while she recuperated from an operation for that injury, she went to Hollywood and joined many other artists and dancers at the Russian American Art Club. The organization maintained a theatre restaurant which produced a weekly talent show for movie scouts.

After her former director, Adolph Bohm, came to Hollywood Mme. Ziceva danced in the first ballet to be presented in the Hollywood Bowl in 1933 with Dimitri Romanoff as her dancing partner. By this time she had also appeared in many movies, but in 1934 her old knee injury forced her to concentrate her energies on teaching.

While vacationing with an old friend in San Mateo, she decided to locate her ballet school there. The school still carries her name although she is no longer associated with it.

Recently Mme. Ziceva was thrilled to hear that two of her former students, Kristine Elliot and Den Delmar, both only 14 years old, had danced before Dame Morgot Fonteyn and Rudolf Nureyev when they were in San Francisco. Both of these young people have received Ford Foundation Scholarships and are on their way to promising ballet careers.

The class which Mme. Ziceva will teach in the Valley will be studies in variations for advanced students. She explained that traditional variations have been developed by such choreographers as Petipa and Ivanov have been passed on for years and years. A group can dance together and yet by means of variations, each may dance separately.

By the twinkle in her eye, one would guess she will be happy to be instructing hopeful ballerinas again.

Thoroughbred auction in Marin County

The auctioneer's gavel will go down on a large array of high-bred horses consigned by horsemen up and down the West Coast when the Atherton Stables in Novato in northern Marin County hold a thoroughbred horse auction beginning at 11 a.m., Sunday, October 17.

The sale will be open to any registered Thoroughbred or registered Quarter Horse. Also accepted for sale will be both English and Western pleasure horses.

Horses will be auctioned in classes as follows:

1. English and Western pleasure horses to be shown at walk, jog, and canter.
2. Registered Quarter Horses, any sex, to be shown under saddle at walk, trot and canter.
3. Pony class open to all to be shown at walk, trot and canter, and may be driven. Ponies must be under 4.2.
4. Registered Thoroughbreds to be shown at walk, trot, and canter.

5. Green jumper - no fence over 3.6.

6. Open jumper - no fence over 4.3.

7. Play Day gymkana

8. Young stock and green broke horses to be shown in hand.

Entries in each class are limited to 10 horses each and will be accepted on a "first come" basis. They may be made by writing the Atherton Stables at P.O. Box 368, Novato, California.

First four miles were the hardest

VALLEY FAMILY MAKES 5-DAY PACK TRIP

Outlook Associate Editor Ginnie Drew reports on a recent 22 mile back pack trip made by herself and her children into the Los Padres National Forest. This week's story tells of the first day's 6 mile hike.

By GINNIE DREW

OFF ON THE TRAIL

As we started off the first morning, we admitted that those packs felt heavy. Only Alan skipped along without a complaint. We found ourselves stopping frequently to adjust straps or shift padding. When we had gotten our wilderness permit from the Ranger, we had told him that we would hike out in four or five days, but at the rate we were going we felt it might be a week.

At one point Gregg commented, "It must be 50 miles to Pine Valley."

Leslie replied, "No, it just feels like it!"

We had been over the first mile of trail on previous picnics so excitement mounted as we passed the known quantity and started to adventure.

The trail snaked along a golden mountain-side with a view across the valley to the coastal squealed, "This forest is so beautiful because all the trees are ripe!"

At 2 p.m. we rounded a corner, and there it was...a sign! Now we had some measure of our pace. It had taken us five hours to hike four miles. At this rate we should reach Pine Valley Camp at 4:30, we surmised. We took a 20 minute break, took off the packs and ran around to stretch confined muscles.

As we started on the final two miles we began to notice dampness in the stream bed for the first time. After walking about a half mile we found a spring and pool of cold clear water under a rock to the left of the trail. We refreshed ourselves and filled the canteens which were nearly empty.

We now came to a Valley with towering pine trees among the oak and madrone. While resting we discovered a log that was alive with ladybugs.

that are a miracle of design... we had a roaring dinner fire going in a couple of minutes. At each marked campground there is also a source of water. At Pine Valley a spring provided cold water which was directed through a pipe for easy access. Runoff was funneled into another pipe which filled the horse trough. Not all spots provided such luxury for animals, but this campsite is a favorite one for persons who are packing with burros or horses because the huge meadow is enclosed with a fence, so they can be turned out to graze.

After picking our stove and table from the four that were located under the pines, we divested ourselves of packs and everyone scattered on individual exploring trips.

We built our cooking fire from huge chunks of rotted logs which had been felled near the camp, and proceeded to put the coffee water on and cook the potatoes and beef. Never had a meal tasted so great! It is very true, also, that appetites double in the out-of-doors.

After our six-mile hike one would think that novices such as we would clean up dinner utensils and collapse in sleeping bags. But, no! The children were just getting a second wind so off we went to explore the high rocky promontories that surrounded the Valley. The fading sunlight had turned them rosy and mauve and it was an unearthly feeling to walk up the slopes to the monumental boulders.

After walking another half mile to investigate a string of pack mules that a group of girl campers from Carmel were using to carry their supplies, we ran back to camp at dusk to see who would make it first.

Then we put the sleeping bags out on a thick mattress of pine needles and went to sleep under a black sky, laden with stars. We had made it to our first campsite...and what's more important, we had really enjoyed it!

(Conclusion next week)

IT TOOK but a few minutes for Gregg to get the campfire started for dinner that first night. The long metal boxlike stove has a tremendous draft that gets a fire roaring in no time.

mountains. At one spectacular point we could even see the ocean in the distance.

On this first day with no measure of previous experience it was difficult to judge how far and how fast we were progressing. From the map we knew there was a fork in the trail at four miles and after lunch we looked hopefully for the sign. During this time we hiked across meadows and under madrone trees dropping lemon-yellow leaves.

As Alan ran from one russet-trunked tree to another he Tracing a trail of little red and black bugs to the stream, we found that the banks were alive with their nests. The ground quivered with their constant moving. There must have been millions of the tiny creatures.

We arrived at Pine Valley at 3:30, an hour earlier than estimated. We had covered the last two miles in an hour and ten minutes.

In the campsites, which are the only places where camping and fires are permitted, there are picnic tables and stoves

REACHING THE FIRST trail sign was exciting! We finally knew how far we had come and how far we had to go! Leslie and Alan note that it's only two miles to Pine Valley!

First place cup won by Cypress swimmer CV Women's Club

It was a happy weekend for Carmel Valley's Marnie Mark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mark. Marnie was awarded a gold cup for first place in the "Eleven to Twelve-year-old" age group stunts competition at a special dual swim meet between the Cypress Swim Club and the Santa Clara Aquamaids on Saturday.

By winning the club's first "First Place," Marnie also won the right for her teammates to toss Coach Don Squire and Manager Del Neel into the pool. The team had been waiting a long time for this privilege, but it came as a complete surprise to the two men who were unceremoniously dunked, fully clothed.

Awards were also presented to Kathy Neill of Carmel Valley, who placed second in the ten and under category, Jan Roehl of Monterey who placed second in the thirteen to fourteen group and Jo Anne Padjen of Seaside who was third in the eleven to twelve group.

luncheon Oct. 6

The October meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club will be a luncheon held at the Shutters Restaurant in Monterey. Scheduled for Wednesday, October 6, members will gather at 12 noon with a program to follow the meal.

The guest speaker will be Mr. David Hopkins of the Distributive Division of Business at Monterey Peninsula College. The title of his topic is lengthy but of particular interest to his women listeners. "Analysis: Technique used to determine the number of businesses to go into the Del Monte Shopping Center," will be the subject of his talk.

White Oaks winter season opens with

'The Innocents'

"The Innocents," a psycho-horror drama by William Archibald, will introduce White Oaks Theatre's Winter Season on Friday, Oct. 8 at 8:30 p.m. The play will initiate a season of six productions running through May.

Archibald adapted the suspenseful play from "The Turn of the Screw," a short story by Henry James, which delves into the life of a frustrated English governess and her precocious charges, a boy and girl possessed of a vicarious mixture of good and evil.

White Oaks veterans of the summer musical season take the four major roles: Mary Pattie, Miss Giddens; Tracy Carr, Mrs. Grose; George Gregory, Miles; Barbara Makinster, Flora. Rounding out the cast are Chris Flynn and Ron Stark.

Miss Pattie took the female lead of Pistache in "Can-Can" and Miss Carr topped the cast as Fiona in "Brigadoon." The younger actors are experienced in small musical and dramatics parts at the theatre having appeared primarily with the Fantasy Players, White Oaks' children's theatre company. Grey was Christopher Robin in last year's "Winnie-the-Pooh" and, with Miss Makinster, shared leads in this summer's "Off with his Honorable Head."

Playing through November 6, "The Innocents" will be followed by: "Affairs of Anatol," Arthur Schnitzler's tale of a Viennese roue; "Arms and the Man," George Bernard Shaw's interpretation of the nonsense of war; an American drama to be chosen from "Toys in the Attic" by Lillian Hellman and "The Country Girl" by Clifford Odets; a dramatic reading chosen from Stephen Vincent Benet's "John Brown's Body," and Paul Shyre's adaptation of "USA" by John Dos Passos; "The Rehearsal," Jean Anouilh's sardonic comedy.

Season tickets, offering a choice of shows and seats, as well as reservations for all performances are available at the theatre, box 515, Carmel Valley, phone 659-2248.

Committees now at work on annual St. Dunstan Christmas Bazaar

St. Dunstan's annual Christmas Bazaar will be held at the Community Center on November 20. The hours are from 9:30 to 3 p.m. with luncheon served from 11:30 to 1:30, according to Mrs. Philip Walker, General Chairman. Mrs. Maureen Weber is in charge of the luncheon with Mrs. Roy Larsen acting as cashier.

Booth chairmen are busily working on their projects. Chairman for cookery are Mrs. Ned Sinclair and Mrs. Edwin McPhee. Needlework chairmen are Mrs. Rudolph Ploense, Mrs.

Ruth Hern and Miss Avis Frink. Arts and Crafts chairmen are Mrs. Harry Townsend, Mrs. Daniel Coleman and Mrs. Gordon Brown. Kiddy Corner will be managed by Mrs. Nora Thompson and Mrs. Isabel Thompson. Chairmen of the Holiday Booth are Mrs. Philip Mothersill, Mrs. M.A. Quinto, and Mrs. George Clifford. Stocking Gifts and Wrapping are under the direction of Mrs. Mel Blevens, Mrs. James Brock, and Mrs. Earl Wilsey. Plants and Vegetables will be arranged by Mrs. Joseph Murphy and Mrs. Reginald Walker.

Plan benefits for sight conservation program

Mrs. Ray Meyers was hostess for the September dinner meeting of Carmel Valley Lionettes held in the Garden Room of the Carmel Valley Inn. Guests seated at tables decorated with white daisies and candles toasted the September birthdays of Mrs. Nick Skalyo, Mrs. Larry Feldman, Mrs. George Baker, and the forthcoming marriage of Dick Stowers, son of Cmdr. and Mrs. William Stowers and his fiancée, Judi. The door prize was won by Mrs. John Koonz.

The organization will assist the Carmel Valley Lions Club with the October 1-2 White Cane Sale, whose proceeds are used for their sight conservation program.

The Benefit Bake Sale with proceeds used toward the purchase of a Braille typewriter for the Department of Public Education for the Blind in Monterey will be held November 6.

The Lionettes hope to raise more funds for future projects by catering the October 27 dinner meeting of the Carmel Valley Lions Club to be held at the Saddle Mountain Ranch.

After the business meeting, Margaret Meyers introduced as her guest speaker, Mrs. Les Jewett of Henriette Interiors who gave an informative discussion of her field in Interior Decorating. Henriette defined interior design as "an intangible thing whose ideas reflect you, your ideas, your families, you locale, and the way you live."

Lionettes learned that Decorators have departed from the "Butterscotch Pudding Era" with its blandness of wall to wall beige and the trend has now swung to color, texture, and the accompanying heavy dark wood finish of the Spanish influence.

Henriette stressed the practicability of hanging lamps and described such exciting innovations in materials as man-made silk and velvet textured vinyl.

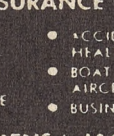

The meeting closed with the appointment of Mmes. Clyde Hitchcock, Jack Black, and Herman Tedrow to meet at the home of Mrs. George Baker to pack box lunches for the Lions who have chartered a bus to attend the Giants game in San Francisco.

Punt, kick and pass

competition open to

Peninsula boys

The "Punt, Pass and Kick Competition," sponsored by Beattie Motors in Monterey is scheduled for Saturday, October 16, at 1 p.m. in Jack's Park in Monterey. The competition is being co-sponsored by the Monterey Public Schools Recreation Department, the city of Monterey Recreation Department, and Beattie Motors where entry blanks may be obtained by boys who are accompanied by their fathers.

In punt, pass and kick competition there is no body contact and boys compete with others their own age. The event is free and a number of prizes such as a place-kicker outfit, a football autographed by top NFL punters, or a NFL warm-up jacket will be awarded to winners. Boys are urged to sign up and get started on practice for the contest.

UNDER THE OAKS AND AMONG THE CACTI

By MILDRED HATTAN

Welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. C.H.W. Nason of West Carmel Valley Road who spent the summer at their home in Brookwood Surrey, England. Located thirty miles south west of London, the area is described by the Nasons as a lovely part of England. Although weather wise it was the worst summer experienced in England in 92 years, the Nasons felt that the wonderful warmth and hospitality offered by the British more than made up for it. Mr. Nason, a skilled marksman, participated in the National Rifle Association Matches held in Brookwood Surrey. Accompanying them was their son, Bill, who has enrolled for the fall term at Monterey Peninsula Junior College.

A cunning photo of Frank Anthony Merlino, just one day old, is being displayed by a very proud grandmother, Mrs. Joanne Sears. The new arrival is the first child born to Joanne's daughter, Renee, and her husband Frank. Master Merlino arrived the sixth of September at St. Joseph's Hospital in Phoenix, Arizona.

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department and their wives attended a steak barbecue planned by Social Chairman, George Palmer, at the fire station last Saturday evening. Fire Chief Chip Collins announced that fireman, Donald Corona would attend the 43rd Annual Conference of the California State Firemen's Association September 26th-30th in Monterey as official representative of the Valley Department. As official delegate to the convention he will cast his vote for the Valley on the numerous resolutions and for the new slate of state officers.

A speedy recovery to Mrs. Sam Corona who has returned to her home on Via Milpitas after a stay at the Community Hospital.

Mrs. Fred Starr was hostess to the monthly Bridge and Canasta Party sponsored by the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild. She was assisted by Dorothy Wagenman. Prizes for the four tables of bridge were awarded to Mrs. Basil Frobisher, first, and Mrs. Margaret Burkholder, second. Winners at each table of canasta went to Mrs. Rudolph Ploense and Mrs. Mildred Blacow.

The next benefit party will be held at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Sweet October 20. Assisting her will be Mrs. Charles Hunt. Persons wishing to attend are invited to phone their reservations to Mrs. Ida Duncan 659-2502.

The Mal Tavares family recently enjoyed a vacation in southern California. Their first stop was at Pismo Beach where they attended a Portuguese celebration. Their daughter, Darlene, participated in the parade in her official capacity of "side maid" to the queen of the Monterey Portuguese Society. She will be honored again at the Portuguese celebration, October 3, in Tulare. From Pismo Beach the Tavareses with their children, Danny, Dennis, and Darlene, continued on to Los Angeles where they visited Disneyland, Jungland, and toured the Columbia Studio. Returning to Tulare they visited with Tina and Mal's families before returning to the Valley.

Miss Molly Elizabeth Rudolph arrived just in time to help her parents Mr. and Mrs. David Rudolph move from Paso Hondo to their new home, the former Darwin Smith residence in Robles Del Rio. Molly who weighed 7 lb. 9 oz. when she arrived August 12, at the Community Hospital, was welcomed by a sister Teresa and a brother Barry. The Rudolphs entertained a group of friends who arrived last weekend from the City for the Jazz Festival.

Laguna Seca road race slated for Oct. 15, 16, 17

Racing fans are beginning to get that excited feeling! The Sixth annual Monterey Grand Prix is set for October 15, 16 and 17 at Laguna Seca. Already entries are pouring in. In the local scene, Carmel Valley's Ed Leslie will be driving a Webster 2-liter and Monterey's Don Wester will be piloting his old faithful, the Genie-Ford.

Jim Hall and Hap Sharp, out of Midland, Texas, will naturally be driving Chaparrals. Jerry Grant, who will drive the Bardahl Special, has removed 45 pounds of weight from himself and 100 pounds from his machinery in a real effort to finish in the money.

A safety guard rail has been installed at Turn 4, which is one reason Hap Sharp is back at the race. He refused to enter until some safety measure was taken there.

Improvement have also been made for the customers. For the convenience of spectators a ramp has been built for their cars from a spot near Start-Finish to the infield parking area. In addition, advance ticket holder lanes will be set up on all major access roads to facilitate flow of traffic into the races.

'FIRST DESERVE, THEN DESIRE' —St. Evan

You've worked hard. Your children are grown. Now you deserve exactly what you desire in a home for those wonderful years of freedom ahead. Your desires will probably include a home in excellent condition, in a good location, with minimum maintenance but an interesting setting, near downtown Carmel, and, most of all, a reasonable price.

AT $33,500

Probably the best close in 2 year old home in Carmel. A most unusual reverse floor plan to allow you to step down into a spacious, gracious high-ceilinged living room with a handsome fireplace wall and doors to the deck framing an exciting green-belt canyon view. The kitchen is the last word, and everything is so immaculate you could move right in without even dusting. ALL appliances included, including laundry.

AT $29,500

A few blocks farther from town a very charming house with Beam ceiling living room, brick fireplace with raised hearth, a nice dining room, electric kitchen, floors are carpeted and hardwood, delightful outdoor living area. Bus nearby.

The Valley at LARGE

Comings and goings of people you know...

By GINNIE DREW

Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association held their openplay day at the Trail and Saddle Club grounds last Sunday. After jack pot roping and track events a delicious chicken barbecue was served by Mr. and Mrs. Dick McKenzie.

Among the local people attending with their families were Mmes. and Mssrs. Glen Young, Bob Wilson, Fred Nason, Gene Schetter, Bill Agee, Bruce Springer, Mrs. Dick Thornburg, Ed Escobar, Marvin Rasmussen, Irene Piazoni, Sis Ammerman, Victor Silva, Bill Martin, Jack Belange, John Holmes, and Margaret George.

A letter received by Mrs. John Upp from one of her students at Santa Catalina is of particular interest since the writer, Chris von Drachenfels is a former Valleyite. Chris, a sixteen year old, had just returned from a summer in Europe and written a summation of the countries she had visited.

Some of her jottings are as follows: France - "Wonderful - we never found a trace of unfriendliness in any Frenchmen!" Germany - "Wonderful too. We had no language problems because Mommy speaks French and Daddy speaks German." Austria - "Better in its own ways...the small towns with tiny narrow streets with painted drawings on the outside..." Italy - "Hot smelly (not the people but the cars and cheap oil and gasoline). If the rich American Tourists don't go first class, they (the people) forget them...try to gyp everyone at any time. Venice was the one exception. It was lovely." England - "Beautiful, so lush and green, but the roads and driving are hair-raising! The long haired boys and men (20-30 years old) are really something. I prefer our American boys to any European boy any day. Especially our surfers..."

Mrs. Winifred Marburg of Carmel Valley Manor won an honorable mention in the competitive water color show at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. Her entry was a small water color entitled "Winter Dream." Mrs. Marburg commented that the show which is exhibiting 70 paintings is one of the freshest most alive shows she has seen in many years.

Cypress Swim Club
Rummage sale hours to be 1-9 p.m.

Special family shopping hours were announced today for the Cypress Swim Club's Rummage Sale, scheduled for Friday, October 1, at the Seaside Grange Hall.

To make it possible to bring the whole family, the club will operate its sale at the unusual hours of 1:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Refreshments will be available during the sale, according to Mrs. Stephen Schaffer, chairman of the event, and there will be something for everyone.

Among the unusual items offered for sale are an air conditioner, a baby scale, a couch; etc. Everything from A to Z.

Rummage may still be contributed by calling Mrs. Schaffer at 659-4265, or any member of the Cypress Swim Club, to arrange for pick-up.

we are attempting national and state publicity. A committee headed by William Howard Church is also accepting donations in order to enlist the support of the national media and national and state personalities.

Donations can be sent to Six Cities Fund, Box 1915, Carmel, California. If enough money is obtained we will proceed. If any is left over, it will be used wither to oppose Humble Oil in the referendum or it will be donated to charity."

Local swimmers do well in San Bruno meet

Six Valley swimmers participated in the "B" Meet with the San Bruno Surfriders last Saturday and Sunday at Crestmore High School pool in San Bruno.

Donna Condren was a heat winner in the 100 yard freestyle with a time of 1:18.6, and in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 35.2.

Christine Brill was a heat winner in 50 yard freestyle with a time of 34.7 and in the 50 yard backstroke with a time of 42.8.

Kathy Neill was a heat winner in the 50 yard breast stroke and placed fourth in the final with a time of 47.6. She was a heat winner in the 100 yard freestyle and placed sixth in the finals with 1:24.9. She placed sixth in the 100 yard individual medley with a time of 1:35.8.

Eve Cuny was a heat winner in the 50 yard fly and placed first in the finals with 40.3.

Bill Gardner was a heat winner in 100 yard freestyle at 1:22.9. He was also a heat winner in the 50 yard backstroke with 45.5.

Claudette Cuny was a heat winner in the 25 yard freestyle and placed fifth with 23.5.

Our Friends are WHEELS...

Yes, we appreciate the wonderful response from our many friends. We opened our doors a little more than a week ago and we are so encouraged by your support and praise. Please keep rollin' in.
